

22nd FAI EUROPEAN OPEN AEROBATIC CHAMPIONSHIP
2021 BŘECLAV Czech Republic

BULLETIN No. 2

22nd FAI EUROPEAN OPEN AEROBATIC CHAMPIONSHIP

Břeclav 2021

Czech Republic

1. Introduction

After a thorough examination of the current pandemic situation and forecast for the coming months, Organizers decide to GO with the Championship. This means that Organizer considers the risk of not being able to hold the event and to have a low number of participants as minimal or insignificant.

We still of course expect specific conditions that will have to be adopted during the pre-event (official training days) and event operations. More information will be provided on the contest website eac2021.cz/covid19-measures.

Even though the current situation and forecast related to the spreading of coronavirus COVID19 look very positive, we understand the concerns of some competitors leading to late registration or cancelation of participation. To encourage those hesitating to decide whether to participate or not we would like to offer a modified schema of Special Entries and related deadlines. Please understand that we are in an unprecedented situation which never happened before. Late entries will be possible, but we are then unable to guarantee to provide a full-scale of services (accommodation). It is impossible to arrange accommodation for large groups of participants late. However, small groups of individual teams would be able to find suitable accommodation and the organizer will provide maximum support to arrange a booking for them.

The organizer would like to thank the pre-registered participants. A list of currently registered participants is available at the contest website eac2021.cz/participants-list. This indication of participation helped us with the "GO" decision significantly.
